HONGKONG, 19TH MARCH, 1904

Wr were glad to see among the subjects prominently discussed in the report of the local branch of the China Association and annual meeting on Thursday construction of the Kowloon-Canton railway and of the opening of Waichow. Both of these questions we have constantly maintained to be of the utmost importance to the future of Hongkong. For many years past we have urged the necessity of the railway line being built from our possession on the mainland to the capital city of Kwangtung province. With regard to Waichow, we may justly claim to have, in these columns last year, an open port at that place. That the Hong-Government was known already. The annual report reveals to what extent their efforts have gone. Last December a letter was addressed by the Hongkong to the Lordon branch of the Association, urging them, for reasons set out at length, to ask | det vered in London on the 17th inst the Foreign Office to press for the concession of the opening of Waichow at the same time as that of Kongmoon. It will be remembered that Article VIII. of the MAOKAY treaty stipulated for these two and three other ports to be opened; but except in the case of Kongmoon, certain changes in duties were to be male in compensation, which have not come into effect. The Association also forwarded a copy of the letter to the Foreign Office, while the Hongkong Government, which happily takes no little interest in the question, sent a copy to the Colonial Office with a covering despatch in strong support. At

had been received from Downing Street, but one has been received since, in which, as Mr. Wincox stated in his speech on Thursday, the Government state that they "can hardly press for this concession, as it forms part of the consideration to be granted by the Chinese Government in return for the payment of the surtax;" but the Government promise that the British Minister at Peking will be requested to urge upon the Chinese Ministers the desirability of opening Waichowwithout further delay, unless he is of opinion that there is no likelihood of their entertaining the proposal. With the Chairmanof our branch of the Association we can only lope for a more progressive spirit than bitherto on the part of the Chinese Government if the opening of Wnichow is to be voluntary. If the Chinese continue in the same mind as now and in the past, we might have to wait centuries before the inclusion of Waichowamong the treaty ports. It is rather to be feared that in spite of the representations of the China Association and of the Hongkong Government-and our late Governor was an adent supporter of the schemethe authorities at home still fail to recognise what Waishow means if brought into communication with Hongkong. We endeavoured to explain its importance when we discussed the question last September, but there is more that might be said.

The same letter in which the Association

wrote about Waichow also contained their views on the matter of the Kowloon-Canton railway. The Association, in the words of the report, made a forcible representation on the subject of the delay in proceeding with the projected line, while offering some suggestions as to the route to be traversed and recommending the construction of branch lipe from Sheklung, between Wai- of the chow and Canton, to Waichow. Copies of this letter were sent to the Colonial Government and to the British and Chinese Corporation's London office, who are stated to be considering it. On the 10th ultimo, in the House of Commons, Earl Percy, questioned on the subject of the railway, saidthat the Government had been informed by the British and Chinese Corporation that as soon as arrangements have been made for financing the Shanghai-Nanking Railway negotiations for the conclusion of the final agreement for the construction of the Canton-Kowloon line will be proceeded with. The matter is receiving very careful attention, he added. _ With Mr. Wilcox on Thursday, we venture to hope that the Corporation will consider to good purpose. The China Association proposed, in its letter of last December, some subsidy, grant, or guaranteefor that portion of the line passing sent before 11 a.m. on day of publication. After that | through British territory. Mr. GERSHOM STEWART supported this plan at Thursday's meeting, and the members of the Association were evidently with him when he expressed his opinion that, failing every other means of making that railway, it would be a sound thing for this Colony to guarantee moderate interest on the cost of construction. since in any case the amount the Colony would be liable for would not be very great. and if the railway prospered the guarantee of a certain interest might never be called up; even in the event of a small debit in the first year or two the prospects of a fair revenue from the railway are extremely good. But we have the Government as home to convince, and hence the branch of the Association in Hongkong is well advised not to rest on its oars, but to keep in mind its Chairman's words that colonists here cannot afford to accept mere assurances on a subject so vitally affecting their interests, and should never be content until they see the tunnels being driven through the Kowloon hills, and the track being laid from the Ko wloonterminus. Our late Governor was first called public attention to the value of a keen advocate of the necessity of the railway. Let us trust that Sir MATTHEW kong branch of the China Association was NATHAN when he studies the question will keeping both matters before the home be equally convinced, and that an united Colony will at length see its exertions on behalf of its future welfare rewarded with

Unfortunately this proved impossible. Enquiries were made by the Admiralby for oul from several of the best smokeless steam coal companies, but these were so fully sold that it was impossible to obtain spot car goes. The Royal eulogy of Lord Roberts contained in the special Army Order issued on the 18th ult., in which King Edward took leave of Lord Roberts as Commander-in-Chief of the Army. was commented upon as another instance where the tact of His Majesty rescued the Ministers from an awkward dilemma. According to a London telegram the exceedingly cart manner in which the War Office dismissed Lord Roberts deeply incensed the late Commander-in-Chief and this feeling was shared by the public to such an extent that it threatened to lead to a serious attack on the Government. The King's first intimation of his disapproval of the War Office treatment was to invite Lord Roberts to Buckingham Palace, where marked attention was shown to the Field-Marshal. This was followed by the Army Order, which was sent out by the King personally, not, as usually, through the Speaking of the attempted instruction of Corean troops by Russ an military officers some years ago, a writer in a home paper says:-The first few weeks were spent in impressing the fact that no one could absent himself without permission of the non-commissioned officer, and in teaching the men how to wear a belt, put on their trousers, and the rudiments of drill When the soldier was ordered to tighten his he blewhimself out after the manner of a pony. then, to commence with, his physical weakness was such that, after standing at attention for about ton minutes, he was tired out. When ordered to "stand essy" all sat down on their heels, and so reposed. However, the men were quick tolearn how to take their Berlan rifles to piece and put them together again, but the weapon proved too heavy for them, so that when carrying it they had to "stand a ease" very five minutes. When musketry practice began the men were very frightened, and at the first shot dropped their rifles and bolted.

His Excellency Mr. F. H. May, C.M.G., the Officer Administering the Government, accompanied by the captain of a German warship, and party, landed at Blake Pier yesterday afternoon. They had a couple of brace shot on the moulands of Wongmoon, by the shores of the West River. The sportsmen left Hongkong the following morning the little steamer found her way into a pleasing piece of country where the party, with their gons, landed. The luxuri, ance of the vegetation, palms, giant-grass, bamboos, etc. forming extensive groves of feathery foliage was beyond description. After passing enjoyable outing.

GREAT BRITAIN AND FRANCE.

LONDON, 16th March.

Reuter's Agency understands that the prolonged negotiations between Great Britain and France have resulted in a good- understanding on all the questions, Colonial and otherwise, which have long been pending between the two countries. All questions have been settled in principle, and the signature to the agreements, which cover Newfoundland, Egypt, Morocco, Siam, and Nigeria, is expected in a few days.

> FRENCH GOVERNMENT ATTACKED.

LONDON, 16th March. The French Government yesterday was defeated by a majority of eleven on an amendment slopted by 282 to 271, making the period for suppressing clerical teaching ten years instead of five as proposed by the Government.

M. Pelletan, Minister of Marine, replying to recentattacks upon him, said that since taking office he had reinforced the squadron in the Far East, which would be completed by a division of destroyers. He had also provided for the safety of the Colonies by organising mobile defences in the shape of destroyers and submarines, in which nothing had previously been done. The delays in the construction of ships were due to improvements in the designs. The personnel of the navy was fairly satisfactory. The Channel and Mediterranean Squadrons could sail at a moment's notice.

COREA AS A FIELD OF CAMPAIGN.

Supposing that the Russians decide (if they are able) to make any stand in Corea, or supposing that they drive the Japanese back later on into that country, Cerea's geography will play an important part in the fighting. The characteristic feature of the country undoubtedly is its notwork of mountains. From Paik-tu-san, in the far north, which rises to height of 8,700 ft., and contains the sources of the rivers Valu and Tumen, there runs southward a lofty range which bisects the peninsula into two unequal parts. On the western side of this backbone there are numerous lateral ranges which divide the country into a bewildering succession of beetling orags, precipitous hills, fortile but very inaccessible. ### SHOCKING MURDER AT WEST POINT.

CHINESE "BOY" STRANGLED.

A murder of a most herrible nature was reported yesterday as having contrad on the previous night at West Point. In a little lane which leads off East Street behind the Sisters' quarters at the Government Civil Hospital a Chinese who was walking along about 10 o'clock on Thursday evening had his attention attracted by an unsightly mass lying at the side of the thoroughfare. He made a closer examination and discovered to his horror that it consisted. of the deed body of a young man, fearfully disfigured. The head was battered in and blood covered the face and body. The features were distorted in the manner and valleys through which flow swift perennial peculiar to the victim of the strangier's noose. streams. On the eastern side the land is very Round the unfortunate youth's nic: wis however, the main backbone becomes rather spare ends of the long sash had been used by

When the man who first stumbled across the body found out what the state of affairs was he rising into steep crags and being flanked by informed the first policeman he met and after due precautions had been taken the dead body was removed to No. 7 Police Station and enquiry

Last night our representative was unable to procure much information that would serve to appears, however, that the murdered "boy" was a servant at the Diocesan Girls' School in Bonham Road where he had been employed for about six months. He was about 22 years of age. Apparently he was addicted to gambling also appear that in the gang of gamblers with which he was associated there was ill-will A Reuter's telegram of the 10th alt, from evinced towards him on account of his good

It has not transpired what his movements were on the night on which he was done to death. To all appearances the "bov" left the Diocesan School 1to join a gambling gang who have their headquarters in a house somewhere in that neighhourhood. In all likelihood the bad feeling the result that he was murdered in the saocking and brutal manner related and dumped into the lane. As is mentioned above. the movements of the unfortunate "boy" on the Thursday night are not known so far and it is impossible to say where the dastardly. crime was perpetrated. More than likely those responsible for his murder knew that he was in the habit of frequenting the lane where his body was found and accordingly placed it

We understand the police are making every investigation into the case and it is to be hoped they will bring the murderers to justice. The name of the victim is Li Hun.

PORTING NOTES.

With its s litary defeat from the United Services, the H.K.C.C. practically ended its regular senson last Saturday, though two mutches still figure on the programme-that v. the Union Church Recreation Club to-day and that v. an United League XV. on Saturday next. It locks extremely problematical whether there will be any game to-day. After yesterday's heavy rain no confidence can be felt in the weather being propitions. The Union Church tesm includes some excellent cricketers, and it will be a pity if the match has to be abandoned. With regard to the following Saturday's contest, it was a wise decision to make the League team a fifteen. In spite of all that can be said, the full strength of the H.K.C.C. is much too strong for any combined eleven of the Happy Valley Clubs, and if the senior club is not to play its best team a great deal of the interest of the game must evaporate. As it is, given a dry, or at least playable, wicket, the match should be attractive.

The League programme is nearly finished, the only outstanding game after the scratched matches have been scored being that between the H.K.C.C. Reserves and the R.A.M.C., which should be played to-day. As it can make no difference to the position of the competing clubs, it is of little importance. The table stands Club,	P1.	. W.	A. Car	1.5	Fts.

	A.O.C	14	13	1	. 0	39

The A.O.C. is to be congratulated on its success in the first season of the League; it is stated that its team was reinforced by some A.P.D. players, but presumably the other teams raised no objections. The Civil Service C.C. made a good bid for first place, but the collapse in the return match with the A.O.C. spoilt its prospacte. The Craigengower C.C. and H.K.C.C. Reserves ruined their chances at the beginning of the season and have done well to work up as high as they have. Next year the Club Reserves will be better for a little less strict interpretation of the word "reserves." There are several excellent players in the H.K.C.C. who very rarely played for the regular team, yet were barred from the Reserves; the result was that the League team was often lamentably weak.

This football season will pass down to memory as the Navai year, the four semi-finalists in the Shield competition being all from warships. Today the Albion and the Cressy should meet in he final tie. It is notoriously unsafe to propheay with regard to the relative strength of Naval teams, and as in addition the ground is bound to be soft and treacherous I shall not at tempt to nominate the winner, though I must confess that the Cressy's defeat of the Leviathan in the replayed tie impressed me not a little. The previous games of the two teams have been :- H.M.S. Cressy beat R.E. in first round, beat Sherwood Foresters in second round. best H.M.S. Levisthan in third, after a draw . H.M.S. Albion, bye in first round, beat H.M.S. Tamer in second round, and H.M.S. Ocean in

The Hockey Cup competition is drawing to its close. Last Monday the 110th Mahrattas just best the 93rd Burmas 2nd team by 1 goal to O in the semi-final round. The other semifinal, H.M.S. Ocean v. H.M.S. Albion, will be playednest Monday at 4.30 p.m. on the Kowloon ground, and after the match arrangements will be made for the final tie.

In our new Governor, Sir Matthew Nathan, another good polo player will be added to the strength of Hongkong. I see that on Christmas Day last Sir Matthew was in the Accra polo team which best the visiting four from Lagos. Commenting on the game, the Field remarks that Sir Matthew Nathan's enthusiasm for the game of pole has done much to improve it in West Africa. May we look forward. when he arrives in Hongkong, to seeing a Governor and an ex-Acting Governor of the Colony playing polo in the same team?

The Royal Hongkong Golf Club decided on Tuesday last, the day of the Annual General Meeting, to increase the entrance fee to $30 and the subscription for all members joining after the 15th inst. to $15 per annum. This step has been rendered necessary by the large increase of membership, and unfortunately we cannot find any 18-hole links in Hongkong Some day there may be links in Kowloon or the New Territory. There is the nucleus of a good course at Mirs Bay, but that is too far until we. get a railway, and then I suppose the land will 6,-1'HE ENCOURAGEMENT CUP II,-50 be too valuable.

In the bowling match on Monday between the Navy and a Hongkong Club team, the Club "tail" lost the match more or less, though Gibson and Ford by their fine scores made the Competition No.; 4. issue practically certain. Woodcock and Chater did not roll anything like up to form. Navy will probably play the Club (full team this time, I should imagine) some time next week, and practice will soon be beginning for the German match, as it is believed the challenge will be sent in very soon. The Germans are said to be practising hard.

The English cricket team under P. F. Warner's captaincy has gone through its arduous Australian programme with only two defeats, both from the full strength of the Commonwealth. To set against these it has beaten Australia three times and defeated all the individual Colonies. The team has indeed upset anticipations. And the main point is that England has regained the international championship.

The Ladles' Rifle Association Meeting, which concluded on Thursday, was very successful, but as a full report of it appears in another column I will not touch on it here, except to compliment the competitors on the way in which they overcame the difficulties and unpleasantness of the weather.

The eleventh Club Race of the Royal Hongkong Yacht Club takes place to-day and to-morrow over course No. 25.

Jack McAuliffe, the boxer, will be remembered out here, owing to his visit two or three years ago, when I believe he was undefeated until he met Ryan at Tientsin. I see now from an Indian paper that on the 27th ult. a glove fight between McAuliffe, weighing 9st. 12lbs.. and one Smitta who scaled list, libs., took place at the Rink, Calcutta, before a large gathering for a purse of Rs. 11,000. In the first round McAuliffe floored Smith with a blow from the shoulder, but in the second round Smith knocked him off his feet, and in the third round floored him twice. In the fourth round McAuliffe was besten, being eventually knocked out with a blow which fractured his jaw. McAnliffe, it will be noted, was giving away nearly two stone.

Charles Dawson has resigned the Billiard wards arrested on information received. Association Championship at home. reasons are conveyed in the following letter to the Hon Sec, of the Association :- " Dear Sir. -Having consulted my backer with regard to playing and defending my title under the rules recently passed by the Billiard Association, I cannot allow or expect my supporters to put down £100 for me to compete in any match where the contestants are not allowed a voice in the selection of the table to be played upon. the balls to be used during the contest, and the referee to decide all disputes, and have therefore decided to resign the title,-Yours truly, C. LADIES' RIFLE ASSOCIATION.

It will be a matter of interest to many, especially to our fair readers, and not generally known, that for the past six or seven years Hongkong has possessed a Ladies' Rifle Association, numbering at the present time some fifty members. Mrs. May is the President, and the committeeconsists of Mrs. Hastings, Mrs. R. C. Wilcox, Mrs. Bryan, and Miss Siebs, whilst Major L. Breton Simmons, R.E., kindly fills the post of hon. secretary. This Association held its annual prize competition on Tuesday, the 15th, Wednesday, the 16th, and Thursday, the 17th inst., when some fair scores were made in spite of all the elements warring against such a result. The range is far from good at the best of times, the targets being surrounded and overhung with foliage and large trees, making the light very trying; especially has this been so during the last few days when the events were shot off in the midst of rain, feg, and incipient thunderstorms and even an eclipse of the sun. The prizes were numerous and valuable, and were pre. sented at Government House by Mrs. May at the close of the meeting on Thursday afternoon. Major Baker-Brown, R.E., and Capt. Dean, R.N., kindly assisted Major Le Breton Simmons as umpires during the meeting.

The following is the programme:--1.-75 YARDS SCRATCH COMPETITION; on-you that the young lady in question is in England, and in a very poor state of health. She has seen a great deal of trouble, and her memory has quite deserted her. To be brief with you, on my way home from Australia I found her alone on an abandoned ship. She could not even remember her own name, nor any of her past life. One day, however, she mentioned, quite by chance, the name of Signor Canti. I went to Florence and traced him to the villa he now occupies in the suburbs. From him I learnt that there had at one time been some talk of attentions which had been paid to her by a man in Florence. Can you give me

"I hope you won't think that," I hastened to say. "Your name was only one of many others. But as the rest were scattered all over the world. I called upon you as being the nearest at hand."

This somewhat mollified her. "Perhaps I know more than people imagine," she observed at last. "I have been accustomed to keep my eyes epen, and though I would not for worlds pry into another's business, I cannot help seeing things, especially when they are deliberately thrust under my nose. But in other respects you have described him exactly. There was one strange thing that puzzled us all," she went on "and that was the fact that she was afraid of him, perhaps terrified would better describe it."

"Forgive my asking the question, but what reasons have you for suspecting that ?" "Because there were certain days on which she could not paint-when she trembled like an aspen leaf and her eyes seemed to have a haunted, frightened look that I cannot describe. Then there was another man-"

"Another?" I cried in great surprise and such pain as I hope I may never know again.

"Tell me what you mean!" "There was another man," she replied, "an ugly, I might almost say a hideons man, with a face like that of a Satyr. I looked at my watch and discovered that it was already ten minutes past five. In twenty minutes he would be with me. My mind was made up, I would not see him. Calling the hall porter to me I said to him : " I suppose the gentleman who called to see me this afternoon was the same who has been so often of late to ese me."

"No, sir," the man replied. "This is another gentleman. I have never seen him b-fore. "Very well then, I will see him." I remarked. I shall be in the smoking room."

REVIEWS.

The Black Familiars. By L. B. WALFORD. London : Longmans, Green & Co. This story, laid in the days of good Queen Bess, when yet the Spanish Inquisition and its Black Familiars were capable of striking terror to the hearts of the people of England, is told | torpede flotilla is weak, and the whole squadron | true savour of the times of which it treats, the it in good order, while, if there is war between plot winds round as pretty a love tale as ever Russia and Japan, the Japanese docks will be was told. The book can be commended both as | unavailable. In view of the fact that Russiai an entertainment and as being an useful commentary on the history of the period.

The Guilty House. By FERGUS HUMB. London. George Bell & Sons.

THAN Mr. Fergus llume there are few authors better able to entrance the novel-reader with a tale in which mystery is blonded with romance. While not totally devoid of the nervously tragic tension of his famous Hansom Cab, this novel has in it more of human interest and much more of good characterisation. It is sensational enough to please the greatest stickler in this respect, and apart from that is eminently readable, though the topic is the well-worn one of the elucidation of a hidden crime.

The Black Shilling, By AMELIA E. BARR. London and Bombay; George Bell & Sons. This is one of the most notable of the yolumes of light literature of the season. The "Black Shilling" spoken of in the title is, of course, the token which not so very many years ago was believed to be accepted from the Evil One by those who practised witchcraft. The plot laid in Boston, Mass., when extreme Paritan principles prevailed and when yet America swore allegiance to William of Ocange. Indeed the novelish deals more with pure facts than with fiction duarrative, for the story is founded on the history of that awful time when in Boston and contiguous Salem hundreds men and women were sacrificed to prevailing and fauntical belief in witchcraft

The Galden Fetich. By EDEN PHILPOTTS. London and Bombay: George Bell and Sons. An excell at boys book, The Golden Fetich is a novel of stirring adventure in Central Africa of two young Englishmen and a famous old hunter a search for hidden treasure. old boys, appeal even to to instruct. na · the author is well up in his geographical and natural history of the country through which the adventurers pass in their quest after the

NAVAL NOTES.

THE NEW JAPANETE BATTLESHIPS.

The placing of criters for two first-class battleships with the Armstrong and Vickers firms by the Japanese Government is of great interest from the fact that one of the conditions of the contract is that the ships are to be read y for delivery in eighteen months. There was a ment, but they were of only 12,000 tons new ships. The Japanese vessels will be ships and eight armoured ornisers, she cannot add these two vessels before the close of 1903

Russia will add to her eight battleships and two armoured cruisers in the Far East, or on the way thither, the battleships Orel, Borodino, Slava, Suvaror, and Alexander III, all within the next eighteen months.

FRENCH BEINFORCEMENTS FOR THE FAR EAST.

The attempt of M. Pelletan to despatch at short notice the French armoured cruiser Sully to the Far East has not proved very successful, as the ship turned out to be unready for seal and her departure has been much delayed. The usual disagreeable incident that seems inevitable where M. Pelle an is concerned has occurred in her case, since her captain, Farret, was anddenly and brusquely superseded, being replaced by Captain Guiberteau, a young officer just promoted. There is no cause for surprise if Captain Farret feels much hurt at the treatment be has received, as it does not appear that he was responsible for the delay in getting the ship to sea. The French Fleet in the Far East, when joined by the Sully, will be composed of the three armoured craisers, Montealm, Gueydon, and Sully, and three protected cruisers, Chateaurenault, Pascal, and Bugeoud, with the usual assortment of rubbish that accumulates on foreign stations in the third line. The old armourolads, Redoubtable and Vauban, which are stationed in Indo-Chins, are no longer of much value for war, nor have they full crews. France maintains no modern battleship in the Far East, in this resembling Germany, though the German Admiralty will shortly introduce a scheme for providing a special division of battleships for the Far East. THE BRITISH POSITION IN THE FAR BAST.

The British force at present in the Far East is composed of five battleships and three armoured.

orginers, with a large assortment of protected cruisers and odds and ends. But it is less formidable than it looks on paper, owing to the m stake which has been made of sending out the Conturion with her heavy gun-sights in a defective condition. For all practical purposes, unless the eights and mountings have been put right at Hongkong, the vessel might as well be without heavy guns, and she is less efficient than any of our new armoured cruisers. She cannot be counted as a genuine battleship. The in Mr. Walford's best style. Smacking of a is without the dock accommodation needed to keep constructing three new large docks on the Pacific, it is time that the accommodation at Hongkong were increased. Even when the new Government dock is complete we shall only have there two docks capable of taking a battle. Pall Mall Gazette, and at the house of the ship, against the Russian five. ### CHINESE LABOUR IN THE TRANSVAAL.

Eir William Vernon Harcourt addressed last month the following letter to Lord Carrington on the above subject :-

Dear Lord Carrington,-I am glad to know that a meeting is to be held to denounce the introduction of Chinese labour into the Transvaal. I deeply regret that I am suffering from a cold which prevents me from being with you to speak on a subject in which I have long taken a profound interest, and to raise my voice against this abominable project. I confess I cannot conceive how it was possible that any man with the instincts of British freedom could be found to put his hand to such a decument as the Ordinance for establishing such a code of serfdom as the basis of the principal industry in the newest colony of the Empire, bought at the price of tens of thousands of lives and hundreds of millions of money. The great telf-governing colonies of Australia and New Zealand, who have had bitter experience fostered by the Mathers of Boston: The plot is of this "yellow peril," with one voice cry well developed, the diction is excellent, likewise shame upon us. They justly regard it as a the description of the life of the times; and foul blot upon this noble title of a British through the pages runs a delightful love-story. colony of which they are proud. It seems to lower that name in the estimation of the world. It is idle to protend that this is not an Imperial question. The policy of a Crown colony is determined by the executive Government at the headquarters of the Empire. By what night do they attempt to shirk their own responsibility by professing to interpret this wish as of a s-lf-governing State? Why do not they allow the colony that self-government in a matter upon which its whole future depends? Even the promoters of the scheme admit that the thing is in itself detestable, but the future of this vast and devastated territory is to be sacrificed to the impatient greed of the speculators in gold who cannot wait to redeem their industry from the consequences of their own capidity. They scared away the natural supply of native labour by taking advantage of the advent of British rule to cut down by one-half the wages of the Kaffir miners, a thing which they were never able to accomplish under the former Government of the Transveal. They have suffered and are still suffering from this egregious act milar condition in the case of the Chilean of folly and injustice. They have been comships recently purchased by the British Govern- pelled to retrace their steps, and by degrees the output of gold is nearly, though slowly, attaindisplacement, as against the 16,400 tons of the ing to the level at which it stood under the Government of the Dutch Republic. The dire superior to the King Edward type in their distress in South Africa arises, not mainly from auxiliary battery, and probably it will be found, deficiency in the output of gold, but is the conthat the 6in, gans of the British ships are sequence of a destructive war. We are told replaced in the new design by the 7.5in. gun, or | the Stock Exchange is sturying for a boom to else that the 9.2in. battery is greatly streng. give a fictitious value once more to worthless thened. Some such step is necessary, as these enterprises. In the interests of low-grade ore, vessels will have to meet the Russian battleships | we must found a low-grade colony. Every of the Imperator Paul type. Their construc- other industry is to be treated as naught, and tion will not, however, secure the navel position | the gold mines are to be manned, not by men, of Japan. To her existing fleet of six battle- but by animals in human form, who are to be treated as if they were parishs not fit to be at large, as lepers infected with some foul disease compelled to cry "Unclean, unclean." What right has a British Government to create, of its own authority, such a staple industry for British colony for whose future it is directly responsible? The neighbouring colony of the Cape, divided on all other questions, is unanimous on this. It is preparing to fortify its frontier, as it were, against an invading enemy. And this is a South Africa which it is said you desire to federate. Rest assured that the Cape Colony will never federate with a Chinese-stricken province. For the Kaffir native population we have some hopes that the contact with British freedom will do something to raise them in the scale of civilisation, but for these Chinese bondsmen what prospect do we offer but a deeper degradation in a condition from which they are prohibited to emerge. It is impossible to contemplate such a prospect without indignation and disgust. It is reaction in its vilest shape and throwing back the moral sense of the nation a whole century since the final emancipation of the slave. I know not whother the Government can command a majority to force upon us this shame, but it cannot be long before the nation must be consulted, and there will be no issue on which its conscience will be more deeply moved and more strongly resolved than to purge younger brother of the late Sir James Stephen, lawyer and publicist, and sen of Sir James Stephen, formany years Permanent Under Secretary at the Colonial Office, and grandson of James Stephen, Master in Chancery, the friend of Wilherforce. He was in his seventysecond year. He was educated at Eton, King's College, Lordon, and at Trinity College, Cambridge, wherehe was for several years a Fellow and tutor of his College, a period of his life sketched in his Life of Fawcett. His first journalistic work of importance was done for the then proprietor of that journal, Mr. George Smith, he met Harriet Marion, daughter of Thackeray, whom he married. For years he was a steady contributor to the newspapers and magazines, his pustime being mountainearing, on which he wrote much, especially in his delightful Playgrounds of Europe. In 1871 he was appointed editor of Cornkill, and in the eleven years during which he directed that magazine hessoured for its regular contributors, amongst others, Thomas Hardy, Robert L. Stevenson, Beary James, and James Payn. In 1876 and in 1881 appeared his English Thought in the Eighleath Cen'ury, and in 1882 The Peitaiho Science of Ellies. In the latter year be accepted the editonhip of the Dictionary of National Newchwang Biography, and this absorbed his time and attention for several years. The first volume appeared in 1885, and twenty quarterly volumes came out under his soldirection. Then the strain became too much, and Mr. Sidney Lee was appointed joint editor, and finally in 1891, after eight and a helf years' work on the Dictionary. Stephen retird, though he remained an active contributor. Some of the most finished biographies in the Dictionary are from his pen. It is only necessary to mention a few amongst scores. Addison; Burns, Byron, Carlyle, Marlborough, Coloridge, Dickeus, Defoe, Dryden, Fielding, George Eliot, Gibbon, Goldsmith, Hobbes, Home, Johnson, Landor, Looke, Macaulay, Mill, Milton, Pope, Scott, Swift, Adam Smith, Thackeray, and Wordsworth. That of itself would be a good life's work. All these biogmphies are, to quote a recent writer, "characte rised by felicitous phrases, Hanoi by frequent flashes of insight, especially Haiphong of the ardonic order, and by good fortune which attends a consummate artist in his special craft." In the English Men of Letters series he wrote Swift, Pope, and Sarawak Johnson ("the peerless model of short biographies"). Lectures and literary work fully filled his ble. Studies of a Biographer was issued in 1898, and in 1900 The English Utilitariam, a study of Hume, Bentham. and the two Mills. "The negative character of his teaching, he antisacerdotal bias, his continual attitude of irony, and even the very subtlety of his thought, have co-operated to retard the recognition of his value as in many respects the first of result English critics. For blowing Officers of Coast and River Steamer. the froth off the flagon of extravagant or inflated enlogy, he certainly met no equal in his generation." In 1902 he was created a K.C.B.

IMPERIAL QUARTO INGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY: WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDABIN PRONUNCIATION.

For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extense. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises | Ocean, battleship, 12,950 tons, 16 guns, 13,500 for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given. the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto strained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications. To illustrate the vast scope of the work the following facts are submitted for consideration :-Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 15.000 Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000 whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various applications and Britain :- Nanking, 1842 Tientsin, equivalents of different words which have one 1858; Tariff Agreement and Rules, 1858; general meaning. Of these examples this work Convention, 1860; Rules for Joint Investiga- contains more than five times as many as any

For practical purposes the arrangement of the vention, 1886; Chungking Convention, 1891; work is so complete that a reference to its pages Thibet Sikkim Convention, 1890; Burmah enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who under-Weihniwei 1898; Convention, Commercial, stand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasionally. It comprises upwards of two thousand large
